BELIEVER OR ATHEIST? Pastor Dave Findlay

“You give them something to eat.”

It is an event that made an impression on the people that were there and the story is told in all four of the Gospels.

There were over 5,000 people present and Jesus told the disciples to give them something to eat. They did some research and they determined that a year’s wages would barely be enough to give everyone a bite. Their decision was, “Send the people away so they can buy themselves something to eat.”

This was the disciples’ decision. The same disciples who just earlier “drove out many demons and anointed many sick people with oil and healed them (Mark 6:13).” Now they are saying, ‘Send them someplace else – we can’t help them.’

A pastor recently suggested that we replace the disciples in this story with a group of atheists. When confronted with the need to feed 5,000 people, they would go through the same process. Investigate what is needed. Determine that there is not enough money. Send the people away.

The disciples would respond the exact same way the atheist would. We don’t have what it takes. Send the people someplace else.

Sadly, there are many people who profess to be Christians or followers of Christ, but who act more like atheists.

When confronted with impossible needs, we look to what we have, determine we don’t have what it takes, and we hope the people will find someone else to help them.

This story is about discovering that there is a God who cares enough about the needs of others to step in where our resources run out – a God who provides – and who steps up to do the impossible.

When you are confronted with the impossible, do you respond like the man who doesn’t even believe in God?
